

Professor Jivka Ovtcharova is a pioneer in virtual and lifecycle engineering, artificial intelligence and augmented reality. She is head of the Institute for Information Management in Engineering (IMI) at the Karlsruhe Institute of Technology (KIT) and director at the Karlsruhe Research Centre for Informatics (FZI), focusing on cutting-edge technologies and human-centred lifecycle solutions for research and practice. The professor with a double doctorate in mechanical engineering and computer science is one of the 25

Women for the Digital Future in Germany, winner of the first Inspiring Fifty DACH Award 2019, internationally sought-after expert, keynote speaker, author and supervisory board member.